INSURANCE

Condo Insurance

Your condominium is both your home and an investment. To protect it, you need the right insurance. Your condo association has insurance to cover potential accidents or damages in common areas and the condo building. But, to best protect yourself you need your own condo insurance.

Are you covered if you have a burglary, fire, water damage or someone injured in your home? How do you know how much and what coverage is right for you? That's why you work with us, your local independent agent - and that's why we work with Selective.

Covering Your Condo with Selective

Selective offers a range of options to choose, ranging from basic to more in depth coverage. And, we can explain the options available in a way that is easy to understand and help determine the coverage that is right for you.

When you purchase condo insurance, it is helpful to find out what your condo association's policy covers – and just as important, what it doesn't. It's also helpful to take an inventory of your possessions and estimate what it would cost to replace them so we can best determine how much coverage you need.

On top of helping insure your valuables, we can review options to best protect you if someone is injured while in your condo.

To protect your condo and valuables beyond the insurance your condo association already offers, you can also choose flood insurance from Selective.
